

Proclamation

Whereas, the beginning of Black History Month was first called Negro History Week, as conceived and announced by historian Carter G. Woodson and celebrated during February 1926; and

Whereas, in 1976, fifty years after the first celebration, the nation had come to recognize the importance of Black history in the American story, and the week was expanded to a month; and

Whereas, confident that their struggles matter in human history, black scholars, artists, athletes, faith and community leaders of all ages have used their talents to change how the world views African Americans; and

Whereas, African Americans, as well as other people of African descent, have been influential in shaping world politics and diplomacy; and

Whereas, African Americans are establishing and maintaining successful enterprises in Renton; and

Whereas, the Association for the Study of African American Life and History (ASALH) has selected "Black Health and Wellness" in 2022 as their 96th annual National Black History Month theme acknowledging not only the legacy of Black medical practitioners in Western medicine, but also birthworkers, doulas, midwives, naturopaths, herbalists and others throughout the African Diaspora; and

Whereas, the City of Renton, in partnership and communication with residents, businesses, and schools, is dedicated to building an inclusive informed city with equitable outcomes for all in support of social, economic, and racial justice; and

Whereas, the city of Renton has video-taped and archived the Virtual Tour of Renton's African American Historial Sites; and

Whereas, the Renton African American community and the City of Renton are honoring Black History Month with "Black Health and Wellness," a special event with speakers and a panel dialogue on February 26, 2022 at 2:00 p.m.;

Now, therefore, I, Armondo Pavone, Mayor of the City of Renton, do hereby proclaim the month of February 2022 to be
