ELECTRONIC FILING AND SERVICE

a. Definitions.

1. “Digital signature” and “electronic signature” are defined in RCW 19.34.020.
2. “Electronic Filing” is the electronic transmission of information to a court or clerk for case processing.
3. “Electronic Document” is an electronic version of information traditionally filed in paper form, except for documents filed by facsimile which are addressed in GR 17. An electronic document has the same legal effect as a paper document.
4. “Filer” is the person whose user ID and password are used to file an electronic document.
5. “OCourt” is an electronic scheduling forms program that integrates with JIS and allows for the electronic filing of court documents into local digital document storage systems.

b. Electronic filing authorization, exception, service, and technology equipment.

1. While JIS remains the official depository of case information, the court uses OCourt in conjunction with Microsoft Live as a means to facilitate electronic filing of documents and data. Attorneys and other involved parties may set up password protected accounts in Microsoft Live and that will allow for the transmission of data and documents to the court and to the parties as provided in (b)(2). Permission to access the program is given based upon the profile of the user and such permission is restricted to cases in which the user is involved. The court determines the level of security allowed by the user. The court may choose to update data in OCourt from other sources to maintain consistency with JIS data, but it is the primary responsibility of the account holder to keep all personal contact data in the Microsoft Live account updated and accurate.
2. Attorneys with OCourt accounts will receive all documents from the court in electronic format through their email accounts. The court, as a convenience, may send reminder notifications of court dates, but failure to receive such a notification shall not relieve the recipient of the obligation to appear or respond as required. It is the responsibility of all parties to maintain a current electronic mailbox address and memory sufficient to receive electronic transmissions or notifications from the court.
3. The court will not deny paper filings, but strongly encourages the creation of accounts within OCourt pursuant to (b)(1) and (b)(2).
4. The clerk will accept for filing an electronic document that complies with the court rules and Electronic Filing Technical Standards as adopted by the Judicial Information System committee to implement electronic filing.
5. A document that is required by law to be filed in non-electronic media may not be electronically filed.
6. Electronic Transmission from the Court. The court or clerk may electronically transmit notices, orders, or other documents to all attorneys and to parties who have filed electronically or have agreed to accept electronic documents from the court, and who have provided the clerk the address of the party’s electronic mailbox. It is the responsibility of all attorneys and the filing or agreeing party to maintain an electronic mailbox sufficient to receive electronic transmissions of notices, orders, and other documents.

7. Service of documents on attorneys for parties of record may be completed electronically. The court will accept paper filing and/or service upon a showing of good cause.

c. Time of Filing, Confirmation, and Rejection.

1. An electronic document is filed when it is received by the clerk's designated computer during the clerk's business hours; otherwise the document is considered filed at the beginning of the next business day.
2. Confirmation of receipt of an electronic document shall be issued to the filing party.
3. The clerk will reject a document that fails to comply with applicable electronic filing requirements. The clerk must notify the filing party of the rejection and the reason.

d. Authentication of Electronic Documents.

RMCLR 7.3
RECALL OF DOMESTIC VIOLENCE NO CONTACT ORDERS

The court shall follow the provisions of CRLJ 7(b) on Recall of Domestic Violence No Contact Orders.

The calendar is conducted on a walk-in basis. The alleged victim may come to the court on any Thursday morning and petition the court for a hearing.

Upon arrival the alleged victim is provided with a form that memorializes their request to have the order recalled. Once the form is completed the alleged victim is directed into the court-room. The clerk prepares a calendar along with a standardized form/order for the judge's decision. Once the documents are prepared the judge evaluates the request in chambers and makes a decision whether to grant or deny the motion. The judge then goes into court and on the record informs the petitioner of his or her decision.

At the start of the calendar the judge informs the petitioner of the following:

There are three requirements for the judge to recall a no-contact order:

1. There must be a written motion. Since the alleged victim is not a party to the action, the motion is the mechanism to get on the calendar. A Motion to Recall No Contact Order is available at the clerk's office.
2. The judge reviews the defendant's case history to determine whether there have been any allegations of a violation of the order or acts of violence since the order was entered. The judge also considers the defendant's criminal history as a whole to determine whether based on that history the judge has concerns that if the order were to be recalled there is a potential for a breach of the peace or violence against the petitioner.
3. Two weeks must have elapsed since the entry of the order was entered.

A petitioner is also informed that the judge's decision is final and that the judge will not entertain any discussion regarding the case.

Before the order is recalled the petitioner is asked by the court on the record whether they have been coerced or compelled in any way to move the court to recall the order. The petitioner is informed that they will no longer enjoy the protection of the court once the order is recalled.

Finally, the petitioner is informed that if they find they are in need of the protection of the court they may return to the court and file a petition of a civil protection order at no cost to them, or in the alternative contact the prosecutor and ask for a motion to re-enter the no-contact order.

[Adopted Effective September 1, 2014; Amended Effective September 1, 2018]
